

SENATE DEMOCRATS DELAY PASSAGE OF RESOLUTION CALLING FOR DAY'S DEBATE ON PRESIDENT WILSON'S "PEACE" ADDRESS

Leak Probe Transferred To Washington

"Danger" Of Prolonged Discussion On Wilson's Ideas Not Eliminated

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—Failing to act on Senator Cummins' resolution providing a day at least of general debate on President Wilson's address to the senate Monday, the senate this afternoon left the way open for general discussion of the president's ideas at any time.

While effectually preventing, for today, passage of the Cummins resolution, which provides specifically for debate next Monday, senate Democrats failed to eliminate the "danger" of prolonged discussion of the president's ideas.

After two hours of wrangling, and acrimonious debate, the Cummins resolution automatically went to the calendar, whence it can be called up at any time on Cummins' motion. Action on the resolution cannot be taken without a vote but the senator's mere motion to have it called up can precipitate debate.

Following the senate's failure to act on the motion, Cummins declared he will take advantage of his privilege to call it up at every chance afforded.

The senate faces the probability of an extra session if Cummins carries out his threat. Calling up of the motion will mean several hours delay every time this occurs.

Democratic leaders offered as their principal argument against setting aside a special day for debate of the address, "the danger of living up legislation to the point where an extra session would be necessary. Cummins contended the president's proposal was vastly more important than any legislation pending."

Discussion in the senate was devoted almost entirely to whether the Cummins resolution should be referred to the foreign relations committee or partisan dispute.

Says Address Most Important

Declaring the president's address in the senate Monday "the most important ever made by an executive of the United States," Senator Cummins immediately demanded action at once on his resolution calling for debate on that speech next Monday and explained the resolution called for no extended debate at this time beyond the point:

"Ought the senate in the near future do the country the justice and render the president the respect of informing the people and advising the president of our views concerning his vital subject. It matters not whether the president is right or wrong."

"In either case his pronouncement is the most important ever made by an executive of the United States. The whole country so looks upon it and foreign nations so regard it."

"I am led to believe that those who oppose this resolution are not..."

We asked the young lady across the way if her church had good properties and she said she never thought of it before but she believed it was supported entirely by contributions.

HIS CONFIRMATION WILL BE FIERCELY OPPOSED IN SENATE

Dr. Cary Grayson.

Senator Gallinger, Republican leader of the senate, has announced that President Wilson's nomination of Dr. Cary Grayson by President Wilson to the position of rear admiral will meet with fierce opposition in the upper house. "In my opinion," said Mr. Gallinger, "the naval law of last year makes the appointment of Dr. Grayson illegal."

Bees Buzzing Tips On Who Will Get Plums

Columbus, O., Jan. 24.—Though Governor Cox has announced he won't be ready for a while to make political appointments, the state house is a hive for political bees. And it is being buzzed that Stewart L. Tatum, of Springfield, may land a place on the state tax commission. Alee R. Taylor, of Findlay, is said to be a good bet for state highway commissioner. Backers of Philip C. Berg, of Hillsboro, say Berg has a good chance to land as state bank superintendent. To succeed L. K. Langdon as state utilities commissioner, two Democrats were being mentioned prominently today—Charles C. Marshall, of Sidney, and Matt Merriman, of Gallipolis.

GERMANS STILL GAIN

Berlin (Via Sayville Wireless, Jan. 24).—Successful progress of German forces in Rumania was again reported in today's official statement.

"On the north bank of the St. George," the statement said, "Tulea was again abandoned."

On other fronts in the eastern war theater the report said:

"On both sides of the river Aa and south of Riga engagements developed which took a course favorable for us."

"On Araduk Joseph's front during the severe cold there was only locally lively artillery fire and forced engagements."

Governors Comment On Address

New York, Jan. 24.—Governors throughout the country are keeping "hands off" in so far as the president's peace efforts are concerned, or have apparently reached no conclusion as to the proposition of this government entering a league to enforce peace.

Of twenty from whom statements were sought today, only a few would comment in any way.

GOVERNOR COX OF OHIO today praised the stand taken by President Wilson in trying to affect "a lasting peace" through a league of nations.

"President Wilson's message marks a distinct epoch in civilization," Cox said. "It is far-seeing and statesmanlike and not in conflict with Washington's idea of entangling alliances, for the reason that conditions are changed."

BRITISH CLAIM VICTORY IN SEA CLASH; BERLIN REPORTS ONE SHIP CRIPPLED

THE BRITISH VERSION

London, Jan. 24.—Persistent reports from Holland today were that from six to ten German destroyers had been sunk in Monday night's engagement between British and German sea forces. The admiralty made no change today in the announcement of the sinking of one German destroyer and destruction of a British craft of the same type.

THE GERMAN VERSION

Berlin (Via Wireless, Sayville), Jan. 24.—One British destroyer was sunk in the naval action off the Dutch coast yesterday and one of the German torpedo boats reached a Dutch harbor, a German official statement declared today.

The rest of the German vessels returned with slight losses.

had been sunk. It is claimed that the enemy ships lost a great many more men and that they were hit more often and with more effect.

The German official statement reporting the engagement, as received here today, makes no mention that 6 to 10 German vessels

HUGE DEFENSE BILL REPORTED TO HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—The fortifications bill totalling $51,396,593—the largest ever—was reported to the house today by Representative Sherley, chairman of the sub-committee of the appropriation committee on fortifications.

Besides the appropriations, the bill authorizes expenditures of $9,459,000—a grand total of $60,855,593.

Principal big gun items and sea coast defense items carried in the bill include:

Emplacements for the mounting of additional 12-inch long range guns, generating sets for electric light and power plants for fortifications at San Diego and Los Angeles; construction and repair of sea walls and emplacements at Fort St. Philip, near the mouth of the Mississippi river and Fort Winfield Scott, San Francisco acquisition of a site for two sixteen inch guns for Puget Sound.

The bill is $3,000,000 larger than that of last year.

New items in the bill include a coast defense aviation squadron for which a $3,000,000 appropriation for hydro-aeroplanes is asked; and a $1,700,000 appropriation for movable railway armament.

The latter item is understood to cover cars for heavy guns.

The bill provides eight hydro-aeroplane squadrons, six for the United States coasts and two for those of insular possessions.

FIGHT EXPECTED ON THE AGRICULTURAL BILL

Columbus, O., Jan. 24.—House Republicans today were lining up for a battle on the Bragg agricultural bill. House Minority Leader Reighard today called the measure "A Simon pure ripper."

"It is an effort to get three hundred jobs for Democrats," said Reighard. "The bill puts the appointment of all game wardens, deputy wardens, entomologists, and other employees in the hands of the secretary of agriculture."

"Birth Control" Leader On A Hunger Strike

New York, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Ethel Byrne, sentenced to thirty days on Blackwell's Island for distributing birth control information, started her third day of hunger striking today. Burdette G. Lewis, commissioner of correction, declared she will be fed forcibly if necessary.

Volunteer Police Woman Makes Two Arrests

Bloomington, N. J., Jan. 24.—Two arrests were made by Mrs. Grace Hargraves, volunteer police woman, who substituted for her husband on Bloomington's two-man force when her husband was taken ill.

Northern Ohio Sportsmen To Support "Quail Bill" Framed In Portsmouth

Cleveland, O., Jan. 24.—Northern Ohio sportsmen will back the efforts of Senator W. D. Tremper and Representative W. R. Sprague of Portsmouth, who have agreed to introduce a bill in the legislature providing for an open season of eight days for quail shooting and using the receipts from the hunter licenses to establish game preserves.

George P. Freeman, secretary and captain of the Cleveland Gun Club, said today they will back the proposition, as they feel that absolute prohibition of quail shooting has not bettered the situation.

"To avoid being caught, hunters 'pot shot' the quail nowadays, killing them in bunches," he said, "instead of shooting them on the wing."

MAY BE "SONG BIRD"

Columbus, O., Jan. 24.—Those who'd rather hear Bob White's singing than to shoot them, are invited to be on hand tomorrow evening in the Ohio house chamber.

House and senate fish and game committees at that time will hold a hearing to place quail on the "song bird" list.

been officially received by Germany. Second, because it is believed that Germany cannot make further moves toward peace after the insulting reply to her own peace suggestions made by the allies.

To Confer With Canadians In Paper Probe

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—To confer with Canadian officials regarding reported action of the Canadian government in fixing news print paper prices to publishers at a $10 increase over last year, Commissioners Parry and Harris, of the federal trade commission, will go to Ottawa, it was announced here today.

Further conference with news print manufacturers and publishers, to devise means of relieving the present serious situation, will be held Friday in Chicago, it was stated.

Important developments which may delay the commission's report to congress on the news print industry—otherwise to have been presented this week—are expected to follow, the commission announced.

Cox Will Not Interfere With The Execution

Columbus, O., Jan. 24.—Governor Cox will not interfere with the electrocution of Reuben Ellis, Cincinnati, February 6, those close to the governor said today.

Ellis, awaiting death in the penitentiary annex, is making an eleventh hour effort to escape death. In a letter to the governor last week, pleading clemency, Ellis blamed an accomplice for the murder of a matron at the Cincinnati jail.

2 KILLED UNDER CARS

Cleveland, O., Jan. 24.—Two men were killed here by street cars today. T. M. Sachernoff, 28, manager of a movie theater, was run down while walking west on an east bound track. The other man, about forty, unidentified, slipped or threw himself under the wheels of a car.

THE SWEDISH WAY

Stockholm, Jan. 24.—Swedish newspapers of both parties interpret President Wilson's speech as that of a Germanophile antagonist to the Entente nations.

WALL STREET IS ASKED TO HURRY ALL INFORMATION

New York, Jan. 24.—The house note leak committee this afternoon adjourned its session to Washington. There it will hold another meeting and announce the time of resuming here.

This action came after the committee had been informed that it might be physically impossible to get stock exchange records as quickly as desired.

The stock exchange was asked to use a form of presenting this information that would expedite returns.

President Noble indicated the full willingness of the board to co-operate. The new plan will call for the main transactions. Names will be indicated by numbers, but in cases where the size of the dealings might point to a leak suspicion the committee can use a key corresponding to the numbers.

An official statement after the committee's executive session said no publicity would be given to traders' names if they did not come within the scope of the leak resolution that is if they were merely small dealers or investors.

The names will be in possession of the stock exchange but can be ordered out by Chairman Henry, if the exchange members agree to the plan.

Resumption of New York meetings will occur probably next Tuesday, it was indicated, though any balking on the part of brokers might bring a sudden change in committee procedure.

Chipfield And Whipple Disagree

At the opening of the morning hearing President Noble, of the New York stock exchange, served formal notice of what he had previously informally communicated—the governors' vote. Noble thought that first responses could be expected by tomorrow

REVIVALS

The Revival At Manly

With no letting down of interest or power the services last night were a great blessing to a multitude of people, fully a hundred of whom took part in a praise service which followed the evening sermon. One young lady gave her heart to Christ and a large number gave assurance to personal workers of their purpose to become Christians.

The Rev. Mr. Masters, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at South Webster, was present and made the opening prayer.

Dr. Grimes, preacher on the words "He Went Away", referring to the young man who came to Jesus inquiring what he should do to inherit eternal life. The story is found in Matthew 19. Said the minister: "I like folks. So does Jesus. Forever the Master is interested first of all in people. This young man was one of the people. Doubtless he was a very agreeable, pleasant, amiable gentleman. He really wanted to get to Jesus and sincerely asked a great question. He did several things that were every way commendable.

1. He came. That is a great deal. Multitudes in Portsmouth do not come where Jesus is or where His name is spoken in love. Rather they go where that sweetest Name is never spoken except profanely or blasphemously.

2. He came TO JESUS! That is more than going to church. One can go to church and sing the songs and hear the sermon and greet friends and assume attitudes of worship and not come to Jesus at all.

3. He came kneeling. He was in real earnest—too earnest to walk. He ran! I like that. I have no patience with a sluggish, indifferent way of doing anything.

4. He came kneeling. And this is commendable. It is hard to get people to bow before God. They are proud and stubborn and self-sufficient and unyielding.

5. He came praying. He laid bare his heart. He may not have meant to do so, but just that thing prayer always does.

But just here he made his first fundamental mistake. He said, "Good Master, what shall I DO to gain eternal life?" Eternal life is not given for our doing. But Jesus tested him out on his own proposition. He must get rid of things and follow Him who is the life. "Sad is the record here: 'He went away!' He never came back any more so far as the records show. But the same thing has happened here again and again.

Where did he go? The Bible does not say but I know for I have seen folks here who have enacted this tragedy.

1. He went back to his possessions. But he found more than ever that they did not satisfy.

2. He returned to the social whirl, but more than before he was sufficed with them.

3. He returned to his worldly honors and people said, "You are a good fellow. You are a sport!" And he hated himself for doing it.

When Jenny Lind was at the height of her fame and the nation's praises rang loudest an admirer handed her an autograph album with the request that she write in it and this she penned: "In vain I seek for rest in all created good; It leaves me still unblest, and makes me cry to God. Ah, sure at rest I cannot be Until my soul finds rest in Thee."

Did this young man go to heaven? Search among the many mansions in all the vast expanse of heaven you will find none for him who goes away from Jesus.

Notes

The sermon made a profound impression. An all-pervading solemnity was upon the people.

The general impression is that the work being done in this revival is of such deep and profound character that it will abide and loyally support the all-year-round program adopted by the Minute Men of Manly.

A letter has been received from the Rev. W. T. Gilliland stating that he is very happy in pursuing

Cocoon Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain multifid coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get multifid coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

his studies in the Drew Theological Seminary of the Methodist Episcopal church at Madison, N. J. He has been fortunate in finding employment at Chester, N. It affords financial support and an opportunity to do good while not interfering with his work in the seminary. He is much beloved among the people here. He will be welcomed to his home conference when he has finished at Drew.

At The Sun

"Felecia, In the Shadow of the Cross" again proved to be immensely popular at the Sun last night. This play will have its last showing tonight. Starting tomorrow night and for a three days run with matinees Friday and Saturday that well known play, "Tess of the Storm Country" will be produced by Miss Kitty Kirk and her associate players. You all no doubt have heard about "Tess" and no expense is being spared at the Sun to make this a production well worth seeing. The special matinee for children on Saturday will no doubt be as attractive as ever. Children will be admitted for 5 cents.

A great deal of interest has been aroused in "The Natural Law," the bill for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next week.

CANNOT WORK OR PLAY

When you are run down in health so that it impairs the efficiency of your work as well as your power to enjoy the pleasures of life it is time that you gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. The condition that doctors describe as general debility when they describe it all is outside of the experience of most physicians until it has become a chronic ailment. Unless this condition of bloodlessness has been reached you simply complain of falling energy, loss of appetite, constipation, lack of ambition and animation. If you are well-to-do your physician will probably advise a change of climate. If not, he will tell you there is nothing much the matter with you. He means that there is no organic trouble.

But the blood is thin and the whole system lacks tone. The blood goes everywhere, practically, and improving the quality of the blood by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills tones up the whole body, improves the appetite, quickens the step and puts a new punch in life generally.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by your own druggist or will be sent direct by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Scarborough, N. Y., at 61c a box.

Don't Experiment With Catarrh; It Often Leads To Dread Consumption

You Will Never Be Cured by Local Treatment With Sprays and Douche.

Catarrh is a condition of the blood and can not be cured by local applications of sprays and douches; this has been proven by the thousands who have vainly resorted to this method of treatment.

Catarrh should not be neglected or experimented with. The wrong treatment is valuable time lost, during which the disease is getting a firmer hold upon its victim, and making it more difficult for even the proper treatment to accomplish results.

Though catarrh makes its first appearance in the nostrils, throat and air passages, the disease becomes more and more aggravated and finally reaches down into the lungs, and everyone recognizes the alarming condition that results when the lungs are affected. Thus Catarrh may be the forerunner of that most dreaded and hopeless of all diseases, consumption.

No local treatment affords permanent relief. Experience has taught that S. S. S. is the one remedy which attacks the disease at its source, the blood, and produces satisfactory results in even the worst cases. Catarrh sufferers are urged to give S. S. S. a thorough trial. It is sold by all druggists. You are invited to write to the medical department for expert advice as to how to treat your own case. Address: Swift Specific Co., 31 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

OBITUARY

Catherine Louise Mitchell

The call from the Divine was the stronger, and while the sweetest of all words, "Mother, Mother," yet lingered on her innocent lips, the soul of little five-year-old Catherine Louise Mitchell yesterday evening crossed the portals to where the "sun shines all ways." The end came to a brave fight against the inevitable as the shadows began to fall about five o'clock.

So pathetic are the circumstances surrounding the death of the little one, the father and mother seemingly have more of sorrow than they could bear, were they not sustained by the faith of a reunion hereafter, and the solace of the little flower that still remains in the family circle, a living prop to the stricken ones, dear little Betty, seven months old.

Louise, as she was called by the family and her friends, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dial Mitchell. She had been ill for several days with whopping cough prior to when her parents moved to their new home, Fourth and Offshore streets on December 18. All haste was made to prepare the new house for Louise's Christmas, but the festive season did not have the anticipated charm for the little girl, as she suffered much from the disease. She asked that her Christmas tree, however, be kept until she got well and strong again, and it stood in the room where it had been erected, when Louise went to join the angels. Her little doll, likewise, was put to rest in its buggy when Louise was put to bed, and was waiting the recovery of her little fair-haired mistress to be taken up again.

Pneumonia developed soon after Christmas, and Louise became desperately ill. Her devoted parents took entire care of her until a week ago, when, exhausted, they were compelled to secure the aid of two nurses. All that trained skill and medical science could suggest was done to preserve the little one's life. The past four days she was kept alive with oxygen, tank after tank being used.

Two days ago she seemingly died, but her father in his desperation succeeded in bringing her back temporarily from the shades.

own by the use of the oxygen. Fighting, O. so bravely, the child, conscious to the last, took her nourishment and responded to oxygen treatment without effort. A slight change for the better Monday evening cheered not only her parents, but almost the entire community who had become aroused to deepest sympathy for the parents in their struggle to retain their beloved baby. But the gain was only the calm that so often precedes the final summons, and Louise had to die.

The end itself came peacefully. The nurse had just given her some medicine, and turned to put down a glass when she heard the child gasp, "Mother, oh, Mother," and she was gone.

Among the many grieving relatives in the city besides her parents, who sorrow for the loss of the affectionate little girl, are the grandmother, Mrs. David Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dowling and C. M. Mitchell, a brother of the father. Mrs. Thomas is a sister of the mother and Mrs. Dowling is the father's sister.

The mother was formerly Emma Catherine Edwards, daughter of the late David Edwards, whose death occurred seven months ago, June 23, the day the baby sister came. Louise died just seven months after the birth of her sister, Betty.

The funeral will be held from the home, Fourth and Offshore streets, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. George P. Horst of the Second Presbyterian church in charge. Interment will be in Greenlawn.

Besides his son, Robert, the deceased leaves several other sons and daughters. Mr. Barnett married Mary J. Ransbottom, a niece of Captain Milstead. Robert O. Barnett was the U. Coughs and colds persist because the resistance is below par, and Duffy's, taken in tablespoonful doses, improves the digestion and assimilation of food, which in diseases of the respiratory tract are always impaired, and succeeds in giving a resisting tone and vigor to the body. It is truly a remedial agent for the mucous membranes, which accounts for its remarkable efficacy in relieving coughs, colds and grip. People who have overcome these complaints by the judicious use of Duffy's know that the intelligent treatment of colds, begins by prevention and are particular to

Why Goodyear Tires Win Friends

Business, it is said, finally resolves itself into a matter of dealing with friends.

From the first, the affairs of this Company have been conducted on that principle.

We sought to obtain friendship by deserving it.

By building into our product downright worth—fertile ground for confidence and respect, the very seeds of friendship.

We won friends to Goodyear—won them in prodigious numbers.

But our purpose continued unchanged, for holding friends is as important as winning them.

If you will look at a Goodyear tire, a Goodyear tube, or any of the Goodyear accessories, and learn what they mean in quality, in value, in service, you will readily understand why the friends who came to us in the early days are with us still.

If you will try a Goodyear tire on your car, you will understand why these friends were joined by other friends month after month, year upon year, until the Goodyear clientele became the largest single group of tire-buyers in the world.

If you will consider the growth of this business, you will realize the stupendous power of the good word spoken man to man, of the enthusiastic comment, of friendliness.

And you realize, too, why we spend upon our product so much of effort and of money to encourage the good word, to foster such friendliness.

—"a matter of dealing with friends."

Tire-buying will become that to you after your first Goodyear purchase.

Whether you buy a Goodyear Fabric tire, a Goodyear Cord, a Heavy Tourist tube, or minor items.

Each harbors the source of your greater satisfaction and our better relation—Goodyear quality.

Goodyear Tires, Heavy Tourist Tubes and "The Saver" Accessories are easy to get from Goodyear Service Station Dealers everywhere.

Dry Land Cruise Is Great While It Lasts, But Police Get Luther

It had been a stormy night. The "sea" was pitching and rolling to Frank Luther, a bold mariner, after a few hours with the "boys," Luther, so he told the mayor in police court Wednesday morning, was on his way home when he became marooned and his troubles began.

Somehow on "Riverside Way" he got a little muddled in his meanderings and veered down to Mill street. Luther at that time was just feeling comfortable, healthy and wealthy and was enjoying his voyage hugely.

The way was lined with bright lights, for all he knew. The sidewalks rolled and tossed beneath his feet in unceasing billows, but he buffeted them unafraid. It was "fierce navigating" that night. But who cared? Wasn't he out for a good time. On he sailed serenely, though his steering apparatus was slightly deranged.

Then! Yes there it was! A haven of safety on this tempestuous night. It was the red row, Mill street, but it looked like an island of grandeur to him. He stopped. He looked. And he made a stagger. He soon moored safely to a small front porch and later gained entrance to the home of Steve Horsley, 1120 Mill street.

After several desperate efforts he captured the elusive door knob and staggered into the front room, where he plunged at a bed, which was doing the "concentric circle dance" and landed.

Thus ended the voyage.

Then along came the police with full sail set and swooped down upon the unsuspecting Luther and took him in. He was fined $10 in police court this morning. The fine was suspended pending good behavior.

One hour to leave the boundaries of Portsmouth far behind was the implicit instructions issued to a man giving the name of Walter Sampson by Mayor H. H. Kaps. Sampson was arrested for "taking on too much liquor" and becoming confident of his powers of oratory. Sampson made a wild dive when released from the police station and when last seen was headed due north.

Charles Larkin and Leslie Cooper had a little disagreement on Chillicothe street and were arrested. They each put up cash bonds for their appearance Thursday to answer to a charge of fighting.

Joe McLoher was fined $5 on a charge of drunkenness.

Senate Passes Amendment To Have All Ohio Cities Endorsed For Federal Plant

Columbus, O., Jan. 24.—The senate late today passed a joint resolution memorializing congress and the navy board to visit Ohio in its search for a site for a government armor plate plant. The resolution drawn by Representative Russell, of Ironton, had limited the location to Lawrence county. Senator Tremper amended it to include the whole state. The house is expected to concur in the amendment.

Columbus, O., Jan. 24.—The Russell joint resolution, which urged the selection of a site in Lawrence county as the location for the proposed armor plate plant, was ordered amended in the senate so as to urge selection of a site in Ohio and not to discriminate among Ohio cities contending for the prize. In the amendment it goes back to the house for further consideration.

The amendment to the resolution was offered late Tuesday by Senator W. D. Tremper, of Portsmouth, when the resolution came up for consideration. Senator Tremper explained to the senate that there were other Ohio cities seeking consideration of the government and that it would be manifestly unfair to these other cities, of whom Portsmouth was one, for the legislature to single out one city for endorsement to the exclusion of all others.

Senator Tremper explained that Portsmouth was outside the zone line laid down by the government naval board and that he was anxious for Portsmouth, Ironton, or any other city in Ohio to receive the consideration their claims merited. He had no feeling against Ironton but he wanted a fair deal for the other contenders. If, upon examination, it was found that Ironton was the best equipped place, he felt and Portsmouth felt, that Ironton should get it and he and his friends would all rejoice with Ironton.

The senate took the view of Senator Tremper and unanimously ordered the resolution amended.

Columbus, O., Jan. 24.—Representative Russell, Lawrence county, today said he will make a bit of a fight against the proposed senate amendment to his armor plate resolution measure which would ask the federal government to locate the plant "in any Ohio city."

The amendment was introduced late yesterday by Senator Tremper, Scioto county.

Russell, whose proposal asks the government to locate the plant at Ironton, because the government is considering that area in which Ironton is located, said he will demand a joint conference when the amendment comes up for hearing tomorrow.

Rivalry of Portsmouth, "Ironton's worst enemy," according to Russell, is believed by him to be the reason for the amendment.

IT'S YOUR LIVER! YOU'RE BILIOUS, HEADACHY, SICK!

Don't Stay Constipated With Breath Bad, Stomach Sour Or A Cold.

Enjoy Life! Live Your Liver and Bowels Tonight and Feel Fine.

Tonight sure! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cascares from the drug store now? Eat one or two tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascares never gripe or bother you all the next day like calomel, salts and pills. They act gently but thoroughly. Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cascares any time. They are harmless and children love them.

Shoes And Clothes Wanted So Little Boys May Go To School

Funds of the Mothers' and Teachers' Club of the Fourth Street school are at lowest ebb, according to Mrs. Lena Brunner Schultz, president of the club, and some of the little boys need shoes. "One boy aged 10 and the other 12, whose mother is especially appreciative, of any help, are in real need of shoes immediately," said Mrs. Schultz, this morning. "It has been our custom to buy only underwear and stockings from our treasury, but even if we wanted to buy shoes at present we would not have the money. One of the teachers just purchased some needed underwear for two children and this nearly used up our fund," continued Mrs. Schultz.

Since Times readers were told last Saturday about the needs of some of the Fourth Street school children, the president of the club has received a coat and hat for the little girl, who had to share her coat with her sister. Persons who have offered assistance to the club, Mrs. Schultz hopes, will not forget their offers or put them off too long.

The most urgent need for clothing is among the little boys at the school. "Most persons seem to be more touched by demands to help the little girls," said Mrs. Schultz, "but our biggest need now is for pants and coats for little boys."

"Get us pants for the little boys," said one of the teachers, when asked what was most needed. "We can use them for all ages from eight to 14 years."

BUREAU OF COMMUNITY SERVICE TO HAVE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

The unemployed of the city will be assisted in finding work by the Bureau of Community Service, H. D. Wehrly, director of that organization, announced Wednesday morning. An employment bureau will be conducted in connection with the regular work of the organization and all men and women will be given assistance in finding positions. This bureau will be affiliated with all of the bureaus of the state.

Mr. Wehrly expects that it will require about thirty days before the bureau can be placed in first class working order.

At a meeting of the Board of Managers of the Bureau of Community Service, held Tuesday evening, Miss Lettie Adams was employed to take care of the work which the Anti-Tuberculosis League had engaged her to do and Miss Margaret Purves was employed to continue with the work which she had done as county nurse.

Miss Ethel Moore was employed as stenographer and file clerk in the director's office, First National Bank building.

Time is the test of truth. And Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test in Portsmouth. No Portsmouth resident who suffers backache, or annoying urinary ills can remain unconvinced by this twice-told testimony.

Walter Drennan, retired grocer, 1012 Findlay street, Portsmouth, says: "I had constant pains in my back and loins. I had chills and dizzy spells. The action of my kidneys was very irregular. I was so bad that I was down in bed for about two months. I doctor and used many kidney medicines, but nothing helped me. Finally I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and was entirely cured." (Statement given November 22, 1906.)

On October 21, 1914, Mr. Drennan said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a bad case of kidney trouble and that cure has been permanent."

Talk Of The Town

"I've discovered the North Pole and there are no signs about here that any one else but me has," said R. E. Scott, passenger agent for the Norfolk and Western railroad, recently, as he held a long piece of gutter pipe before a gas stove. The pipe was one mass of ice.

"Billy Butt-In is all right, best thing in the paper," says John C. Bauer, secretary of the Gilbert Grocery Company.

The Times New Year's resolutions did it. Si Straus has quit smoking. Honest to goodness. No kid! Just ask him.

After reading his resolution and having fun "poked" at him for his failure to quit the "vile weed," Si became convinced that he would have to give up the "lady nicotine" which he had wooed for so long.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, moths, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 80.

Dear Dolly—I am coming to you for advice and hope you can help me. There is the prettiest little school ma'am teaching out at Otway. She has beautiful black hair, dreamy brown eyes and the sunniest smile for everyone—but me. She can ride a pony better than any cow-boy I ever saw. I saw her there last winter and tried to flirt with her, and many times since have tried to talk to her, but she acts so indifferent and dignified. Do you think it is because I tried to flirt with her, or because I am a railroad man? Now, Dolly, I admire her so much. She seems so much more intelligent, has better manners and more modest than most girls. Perhaps if she sees this she will talk to me the next time I see her. I am twenty-eight years of age, have light hair and blue eyes, weight one hundred and eighty pounds, and well educated.

Dear Dolly—Please answer in tonight's paper if there are any Fortune Tellers in Portsmouth and what street they are on. BLUE-EYES. I do not know of any.

New Boston—Miss Dolly Wise—Will people be allowed to keep hogs inside the corporation this year, if they live out to themselves? A READER.

I imagine one would be allowed to raise hogs if they cared for them, in a sanitary manner. However, you had better ask the opinion of City Solicitor Mark Crawford before investing in a porker.

Brazil, Ind.—Dear Dolly—I am a widow woman with two children. I have to work for the support of them. I have been talking to a man for sometime and I am engaged to be married in a few months. He seems to admire the children and also says that I won't have to support them after we are married. Later I met another man and I have been going with him, as the other man does not live in the city. I admire his company and hate to give him up. Would you advise me to break the engagement? TIMES READER.

Since you are well acquainted with both men and have had some experience in choosing a husband, I think you ought to be able to decide this question for yourself. However, you had better decide on the one who is willing to care for your children, since that seems to be your chief reason for accepting either one.

Dear Miss Wise—Is it lawful in this state for a landlord to give tenants three days' notice to move, and at the end of that time, if they have not moved, can he send an official and move them, regardless of whether they have a house or not? These people are five days in arrears with their rent and fully intend paying within ten days, but the landlord refuses to wait.

We suggest that you try a 50c package with our guarantee of satisfaction.

My Dear Miss Wise—I would like to have your honest opinion of a certain young lady in town who thinks she is so popular she can make any and all kinds of promises and never keeps them and get by with it. I had a date with her one Sunday evening. The girl in question called up another fellow's girl and asked her to call me and tell me it would be absolutely useless for me to call on her that evening. Then she called again to ask how I took it. Would you advise me to ask her what she meant, or should I forget her altogether. The other evening we passed her on the street and she expected us to speak first, but we did not. So none of us spoke. Did we do right? MAX-HUD.

Now that you are both even, why don't you forget your little differences and start over again? She'll probably be more careful how she treats you in the future.

SOCIETY

Fifty years ago today Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Coburn, Sr., 1823 Spring avenue, were married at the home of the bride's parents, on a farm in Madison township, Scioto county. Mrs. Coburn was Elizabeth J. Deemer.

The one o'clock dinner today, in celebration of this golden anniversary will be a much smaller affair than the dinner on that snowy day, half a century ago. For at noon on that day, just two hours before the wedding, two sleigh loads of people, who did not know anything about the event, drove up to the house to surprise their friends and take dinner with them, Mr. Coburn said.

"My wife is as beautiful to me and as much my sweetheart as on the day I married her," declared Mr. Coburn this morning.

Mr. Coburn, retired road contractor, has not been actively engaged in business since he and his wife moved to Portsmouth about 15 years ago.

Guests at Mr. and Mrs. Coburn's anniversary dinner today were Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Coburn, Jr., 1425 Spring avenue, and Earl Fishback, of New Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Coburn have four great grand children, 11 grand children, and the five children are: Mrs. Laura Maudie Moore, living near Harrisonville; Mrs. Lissandra Violet, living near Lucasville; Mrs. Ida May Brown, residing near Stockdale; O. M. Coburn, Jr., and Ernest Harlan Coburn, New Boston druggist.

The Ashbury Class of Bigelow Sunday school held an enjoyable meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Al Windle, on Third street. There were seventy present. Included in the afternoon's pleasures was a beautiful vocal solo by Mrs. May Lyman; Mrs. Chris Hansen and Miss Grace Andrus played pretty piano selections, and Miss Cleo Barber, young daughter of the household, gave a reading to music, playing her own piano accompaniment. The hostesses served excellent refreshments.

Mrs. Eula Ford Kuntzman, of Chicago, has gone to Garrison to visit her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sellards, until the last of February.

One of the prettiest social events ever held in the village of Wheelersburg was an attractive tea with which Mrs. Norman Adams entertained yesterday afternoon at her handsome home on Broadway street. The spacious rooms were adorned in the pink and blue color tone. Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Louis Snyder received the guests in the large parlor from one-thirty until two-thirty. The guests were invited to the exquisitely adorned dining-room at half-after three. The table, spread with a handsome cloth, embroidered in daisies, was adorned with a large cut-glass bowl of lavender sweet peas and yellow daisies. The curtains were drawn and the yellow and violet shaded candles and the light from the yellow dome cast a mellow light over the pretty picture. Violet and yellow ribbons were suspended from the dome to the corners of the table. The favors were small Cupids. Mrs. Charles Marting, of Sciotoville, and Mrs. J. N. Hudson presided over the coffee uras, and the delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Adams, assisted by Mrs. John Duis. Short Open Season For Quail Is Advocated, Here Is Bill

Open season for quail in 1917, hunt, catch, kill, injure or pursue less than ten dollars nor more as advocated by the Scioto County Fish and Game Association, is embodied in a bill which will be submitted to Senator W. D. Tremper and Representative William R. Sprague for introduction into the Ohio General Assembly.

The bill together with a letter which Henry T. Bannan is forwarding to Governor James M. Cox and the local representatives in the General Assembly are:

Dear Sir: I enclose a suggestion for a game law for Ohio in 1917. It is based upon an experience of at least twenty-five years, much reading from magazines devoted to the interests of the farmer and the hunter and many conferences with others.

Some reason and common sense must be applied to this problem. The farmer has his rights and they must be respected. The hunter must obtain his privileges from the farmer. Both interests desire the preservation and increase of the game birds because these birds are essential to each. As the situation now stands one class wants to hunt without any regulations that regulate or restrict the other class wants to declare that as a matter of law game birds are song birds and must never be hunted. A reasonable course, just to both, should be adopted.

You will find in the enclosed draft the following new provisions:

1. A very short season for quail of eight days. Alternate days for hunting are designated to prevent camping parties from being formed to hunt every day, and to enable the coveys to obtain rest and the opportunity to feed. In other words, to prevent their being kept in a state of constant alarm.

2. The duck season conforms to the federal law, which has proven to be one of the best game protective measures ever enacted.

3. The use of the repeating, automatic or other magazine shot gun in hunting quail or squirrels is prohibited. Several American states and provinces of Canada will not permit the use of such weapons. Many hunting clubs will not allow them on the club's preserves. They are entirely too deadly. To effectively protect you must limit the power to kill.

4. A limit has been fixed for the number of game the hunter may kill during the season as well as upon a single day. This is recommended by many State Commissions. But such limitations are of but little value unless you reduce the power to kill as stated in the paragraph next above.

I believe that with a fair presentation of such a bill as the enclosed to the committee of the House and Senate the passage will be secured.

It is not what either side to the controversy wants, but it is what both ought to have.

A Bill

FURNITURE CLEARANCE

Our First Semi-Annual Sale!

We have been in business two years. We have never run a sale of any kind. We don't believe in having a different sale every few weeks.

And We Don't Believe

The Public Believes These

Sales Are Bonafide!

After each and every season from now on it will be the policy of this store to hold Clearance Sales for three reasons—

FIRST—Our buyer goes to the Furniture Markets the first of every January and July at Grand Rapids and Chicago where he purchases our goods for the coming season. And in order to make room for the reception of the new goods we have struck upon a Clearance Sale to reduce the stock.

SECOND--To Get Ready Cash

THIRD—It would be the height of folly for any merchant to tell you that in the course of six months he does not accumulate odds and ends. And by this we mean perfectly good and first class furniture, but for example—Dining Room furniture, pieces of which have been sold; library suites and bedroom suites the same. By factories changing patterns makes it impossible to match the pieces remaining. Hence there is no course left open for us but to sacrifice these odds and ends, which will be sold at cost and some less than what we paid the manufacturers.

Every Piece of Furniture in The Store

including Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains and Draperies, Stoves and Chinaware will be reduced from

15 to 25 Per Cent

Every piece of Furniture in the store will be marked with a special tag—the figures plain.

While we had decided to make this a strictly cash sale, nevertheless we have finally resolved to extend a 60 days' credit to those who are worthy of credit.
This sale will start Saturday morning, January 27 and will positively end on Saturday, February 10.

The Movies

Theda Bara in her Six Reel Master Picture Production at the Columbia Tonight

How a girl rises from life in the slums of London to one of the highest places in English society, then falls suddenly, when the deception by which she had climbed, is disclosed, is told in Theda Bara's new subject for William Fox, "Her Double Life."

Mary Bara takes the part of Miss Doone, the tenement child, who makes her home in The Refuge, a parish house at which Elliot Clifford (A. H. Van Buren) is pastor. When the call comes for war nurses, Mary answers.

At the front she meets Lloyd Stanley (Stuart Holmes), a war correspondent, whom she had known in London. She is saved from dishonor at Stanley's hands, by the bombardment of the hospital tent. After the attack, Mary finds the body of a young girl in the tent. It is Ethel Wardley (Madeline Le Nard), a niece of Lady Clifford's, who is on her way to make her home with the aunt she has never seen.

Mary changes clothes with Ethel, takes the girl's papers and luggage, and goes to Lady Clifford's. She is received as the niece. The aunt (Lucia Moore), loves the girl, and Elliot, the son, falls in love with her herself.

Then Stanley returns to England. He brings with him Ethel Wardley, who has recovered from the wounds received on the battle line. They go together to the Cliffords, and are about to disclose the truth about Mary, when the poor girl confesses.

She sees then that further life with the Cliffords is impossible, although Lady Clifford loves her so much that she wants her to stay. But Mary returns to The Refuge, to work out her salvation among the little children.

"The Men She Married", all Star Production at the Lyric Tonight

Tenderly he takes her in his arms and begs her for forgiveness which she gladly grants. So ends "The Men She Married," latest World Picture Brady-Made. This is one of the very strongest and most gripping stories yet produced in pictures, and in order that there should be no weak links in the production, four big World stars have been assigned the handling of the principal roles. These stars are Gail Kane, Arthur Ashley, Montagu Love and Muriel Oakshott. Don't fail to see this play at the Lyric theatre tonight.

Floor Boys Will Battle

Thursday evening in the German Evangelical gym a team composed of players mostly from the class of Louis Weiss will play a team composed of players in the class of William G. Hadden. Hadden, Brunner, Kaiser, Graf, Potker and Schusky will be on the former team. Chl. Bender, Kah, Link, Luvendek and Kugelmann will form the team from Hadden's class. The game will start at eight o'clock.

REGAINS HEALTH, TAKES JOB BACK

Plucky Girl Wins Out by Spirit of "Never-Say-Die."

Miss Lillian Korcek, 2325 East 74th street, Cleveland, was out of a job. There was plenty of work, but she was unable to hold a position. With her it was a case of no job until she could regain her health.

Fortunately for her rescue came Tangle. Dame Nature cooperated with Miss Korcek, and now she is back on the job. The "Tangle Smile" on her beaming face lightens every task.

Surprise to All.

"Mother and my friends just can't get over how well I look and feel," she told the Tangle Man. "I used to be troubled with weakening stomach troubles. Gas formed after each meal and I had no appetite. I felt tired all the time. Staying at work meant one miserable hour after another. It did me no good to get home and to bed because I got up more worn out than when I went to bed."

Doctor Forbids Work.

"Finally the doctor told me to quit working and I gave up my position. I was wasting away and very thin. After taking Tangle two weeks I went back to work. Now I have no trouble with my stomach. I am gaining weight and feel better than I have for a long time, and feel that life holds something."

Sold in Portsmouth, Ohio, by Fisher and Streich Pharmacy.

Tangle may be obtained in the following nearby towns: New Boston, E. H. Caburn, Sciotoville, Sciotoville Pharmacy, Bloom Switch, H. J. put a special delivery stamp on the packages in order that they may reach here in time for Madeline Georgia Fisher's party Friday afternoon.

If you have not put the finishing edge on that baby cap or done the last stitching on that baby dress, tomorrow is the last chance you will have to finish it in time for the presentation which will take place Friday afternoon, at the home of the baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fisher, 1412 Kinney street.

Or if you have not made the box of candy, or finished Madeline's booties, there is still time to complete them.

A number of gifts are now at the Times office and many more are expected to be brought in before Friday noon. A number of donors will bring their presents when they come to join in the cortege which will form at the Times office at one o'clock Friday afternoon.

If any person who has not already expressed a desire to join the number of donors, cares to do so it is not yet too late. Automobiles will convey the presents to the Fisher home.

Remember, Friday afternoon is the time for Madeline's party.

Noted Man At Trinity Thursday Evening

Local pastors and Sunday school superintendents seem wide awake to the opportunity which is afforded them by the coming of Rev. Joseph A. Bennett on Thursday night to Trinity church. They are lining up their Sunday school teachers, as well as all the members of adult bible classes, both men and women for this big event. They realize that this "live wire" in Sunday School work has a message their members should hear, and they are seeing to it that they all attend wherever possible.

The meeting Thursday night will start at 7:30 o'clock, so

DR. WHITEHALL HELPS RHEUMATICS

Dr. Whitehall, the well known physician of South Bend, Ind., has been a rheumatism specialist for many years and his observations in the treatment of this terrible affliction finally resulted in devising a formula that has been used for several years with great success in thousands of cases.

Dr. Whitehall's Rheumatic Remedy, when taken for gout, lumbago, crick in the back, stiff, swollen, aching joints, shooting pains in the muscles and other forms of rheumatism, produces astonishing results in a very short time. It eases the pain, takes out inflammation, reduces swelling, limbers stiff joints and muscles. It goes straight to the seat of trouble.

Most forms of rheumatism yield readily to this treatment because every part of the body is reached by this wonderful medicine and the accumulations are dissolved and eliminated faster than they are formed.

Dr. Whitehall's Rheumatic Remedy is sold by all druggists at 50c a box, and every man or woman afflicted with rheumatism in any form should not fail to try this remedy and rid the system of the nerve-racking affliction.

"Mental Torture" Caused Him To Kill Women, Says Terry

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 24.—Harvey E. Terry, who on Monday admitted he had killed his wife, her mother and his wife's cousin, on yesterday afternoon in his cell at the county jail, made a detailed confession. Terry's statement considerably amplifies a confession he had made earlier in the day to the police, and throws the spotlight on many puzzling phases of his extraordinary case.

The mental tortures of an unhappy marital career impelled him to slay Mrs. Terry and her mother, whom he believed partially responsible for his matrimonial difficulties, but the slaying of Mrs. Spurlock, was an accident, Terry said.

Other significant parts of his statement were that he had intended to stage a double tragedy at the court house instead of the Black home, and that he doesn't want his 18-year-old actress daughter ever to know he is a murderer.

Terry recounted his story from the day pretty Lillian G. Black became his bride on February 14, 1916.

This is what he said:

"We were married the fourteenth of last February and separated the latter part of March. After about three weeks we went back together. She had sued me for a divorce and I filed a cross-petition, but she begged me to come back and live with her. I had kept her off three weeks before I took her back. Then, I think it was about July 25, she left home again. I came home from work and found she had packed her trunk and gone. I stayed at home a few days and then moved to a room right across from the city hall. I had only been living there a week when I came home and found her in my room. I said to her 'I've nothing to talk to you about, get out of my room.' She went away.

"Then she would frequently call me up over the telephone, begging me to take her back. I told her 'you've broke up my home twice and I think that's enough to do to any man.' I told her I absolutely would not see her. Then came the notice of her being granted alimony by the judge. I didn't understand the second divorce notice and was not in court when the judge gave her alimony. I filed a second cross-petition, and asked for a rehearing but the judge wouldn't take off the alimony. He gave her four dollars a week and attorney fees of $20.

"Then she got to running about the streets and bragging that I had to support her but she didn't have to live with me. She never worked a lick and that showed she was getting her living some other way. I wouldn't have minded so much if she had only gone to work. I knew her aged father was unable to support her. People would come to me and tell me about seeing her on the street talking to men and walking with men. I had a good position, I didn't want to give up and be run out of town by that woman. I paid the alimony every week.

"Last Saturday my lawyer advised me to put off the divorce trial because there was not sufficient evidence.

"I had been worked up to a pitch—my blood was boiling—I had been worrying for months and drinking more liquor than I had ever drunk before in my life. I had been worried to death all the time since the separation. People came and said she wasn't living right and that would keep me worked up. My nerves had gone to pieces. It looked like I had to do something. It seemed like something just kept pulling me down there.

"Her mother caused the separation. I held more against her than I did my wife. I don't know how many shots I fired. I gave my wife a good home and she wanted for nothing. I had been worrying for two or three months and I felt like I couldn't stand the trouble any longer. I intended to get them right at the court house. If it had happened there, Mrs. Spurlock would not be dead. God knows I didn't aim to kill her. I didn't know what I was doing.

"Terry then graphically described the scenes of the last day leading to those in the death chamber of the Black home.

"I left the court room about eleven o'clock in the morning after the case had been put off. I went to my room and drank a half a pint of whisky. I laid down and must have slept until about three o'clock in the afternoon. I got up and drank the rest of the liquor—all except about one drink. I walked around all that afternoon, thinking and thinking. I didn't even eat any supper. I got on a Sixth and Eighth avenue car about seven o'clock. I got off at Sixteenth street, not at Twentieth street like they said. I walked straight up there and went in the side door. Lillie saw me and jumped up.

"Well, what do you know about this?" she said and started to run. I shot her twice. Her mother was screaming and I turned the gun on her. I did not aim to shoot Mrs. Spurlock. She jumped around behind Lillie's mother and must have got shot that way."

Here Terry broke down and wept.

Mr. Sprague Explains His Vote For Ironton

Rep. W. E. Sprague has written The Times as follows, explaining that he voted to endorse Ironton as a site for the armor plate plant, because, as the bill shows, and as he had been told, all other parts of Ohio had been ruled out of the contest.

The Portsmouth Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

I would like to make a short explanation of my vote on H. J. R. No. 6 relative to the armor plate plant. You will note that the resolution itself sets forth that the United States Naval Board has eliminated all the territory of Ohio except a portion of Lawrence county, and it was only after a positive statement to this effect had been made to me, both by Mr. Russell, Representative from Lawrence county and by Judge Corn, that I decided to vote for the resolution, as I told them at the time that Portsmouth was making a bid for the plant. You will further note that the resolution does nothing more than ask for an investigation of the location in question, and at the time the Board visits Lawrence county, in the event such a visit is made, if it should develop that Portsmouth should be considered, they can very readily visit our county for inspection. I felt that I could rely upon the assurance of Mr. Russell and Judge Corn, in addition to being shown the ruling of the Naval Board, and I also felt that I would rather have the plant located in our section of the state, if the passage of the resolution would be of any assistance, than to have it located elsewhere in the United States.

Yours very truly,
W. E. SPRAGUE.

The Joint Resolution is as follows:

Whereas, the United States government is about to construct a plant for the making of armor plate; and

Whereas, the United States naval board whose findings will be largely followed, by certain requirements eliminated all territory of Ohio except a portion of Lawrence county; and

Whereas, it so happens that this section of Ohio has since proven a most excellent location for such an enterprise as is evidenced by eight furnaces now being in operation in this territory, providing some of the best pig iron, not only in the United States, but in the world; therefore,

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of Ohio:

That Senator Pomerooy and Senator Harding and the entire membership in congress from Ohio be and are hereby requested to ask and insist upon those persons who may be delegated to select the location for this said armor plate plant, to visit Lawrence county, Ohio, and investigate the claim that this said section of Ohio has equal, if not superior advantages over any other section of the United States for armor plate manufacture.

THEY'RE HERE! THE FIRST ROBINS

Aha! A Hilltop woman, who styled herself "a close observer of birds" beat you to it. Yep, she out-robined you this year, as she informed The Times Wednesday morning that she saw two "perfectly beautiful golden-throated" robins in Green-lawn cemetery this morning and that they were filling the "silent city" with their music.

"And don't think that I don't know a robin when I see one," the Hilltop woman hastened to add.

School Credit Plan Success

School credit for home work was so successful in District No. 1 of this county last year that the county superintendents have agreed to give the opportunity to all of the teachers of the county during this year.

In rural schools any pupil in the school can do the home work. In village schools like Sciotoville, Wheelersburg, South Webster, Otway and Rarden, only the 5th and 6th grades will try it. The purpose of the school credit for home work is to inculcate habits of industry and to bring about better co-operation between the home and school. A girl can get little real instruction in setting the table, preparing a meal or making a bed in the average rural school.

A boy can get little instruction in the care of stock or farm work in the rural school. To give the child this practical training the best plan found is to give the children this necessary training at home. If a boy builds a fire 7 times a week, he would get 7 credits. If a boy or girl milks a cow twice a day for 7 days, he or she would receive 14 credits. The credits will count in the grades. Each pupil winning 200 or more credits within a month will be given a half holiday at the end of the month.

AS TO PUBLIC OPINION

According to our view, the most important matter in regard to President Wilson's peace address to the senate, is first, how will it be regarded by the belligerent governments, and second, how he received by the people, when it loses its sensational incidents and is discussed and considered as a state paper.

Primarily the German press seems disposed to give it approval and so far there is no apparent tendency to regard it as in anywise an affront to Germany or her position. On the other hand, the British press is cautious and non-committal in its comments. It is as though the exact purport of the deliverance being not clearly understood, prudence dictated there should be no haste in expressing favor or disfavor.

At home there is a decisive preponderance of sentiment in support of the not and sentiments of the president, if we may take the newspapers as reflecting the popular view. It is true that such papers as the New York-Sun and Tribune are harsh in their criticisms, but of them nothing that Wilson could do, except to resign, would possibly meet with their approval. This is equally the case with the rabid pro-German papers, but the independent metropolitan press and many of the more liberal Republican and German journals are altogether cordial in praise and support. They characterize the address as courageous, opportune and able and express the conviction that it can have but one result, the promotion of an earlier peace and on a basis that will insure against such devastating wars for many years to come. A consummation most devoutly to be prayed for.

SHE NEEDS EVERY FOOT

Taking forethought in a most vital matter Mr. George Matthews, with the energy and enthusiasm characteristic of him, is agitating that future extensions of the flood wall shall follow the general course of the river. To do this would take in a large section of lowlands that lie to the southeast. It has been quite generally assumed that such a plan would not be feasible because of the enormous cost that would be entailed in the construction of a wall of the height required. Surveys and drawings in the city engineer's office are said not to justify this conclusion. Accepting as unquestioned that eventually a flood wall is to surround the entire city, it appears that on any course its lines may be laid, other than those inclusive of the lowlands, it would be not as much as five feet lower. This would not seem to make protection of the lowlands, either impossible or impracticable. The higher wall would hold, of that there can be no doubt, and it seems of supreme importance that the lowlands should be raised to the most valuable asset the city can have, when its future growth is considered. Thinking men are beginning to realize that the most serious menace the town has to development is the scarcity of available industrial sites. Protected from high waters no more desirable locations could be desired than would be then furnished by the lowlands. Situated on the river bank and adjacent to all railroads entering the city their shipping facilities would be unrivaled. It should not be taken for granted they can not be utilized for important purposes, but to the contrary they should be held as a most potential asset in the future of Portsmouth and every effort strained to make them such.

William Jennings Bryan spoke twice in Cincinnati, and everybody that could hear him, the police having to close the doors of the buildings to keep off over-crowding. Additional interest was given to his visit by the announcement that Theodore Roosevelt had been invited to follow right on his heels.

The war department has relented and rescinded its orders that the brave warriors on the governors' staffs may not wear federal officers' uniforms, that is reproduction of them, of course. Now let the gay and gallant colonels be gay and gallant once more, and the envy of every plain citizen.

Yes, sir, there may too much of a good thing. At least the federal reserve board expresses fear that this country is accumulating too much gold. Why not put a protective tariff on it.

It is said of a distinguished orator that his terminal facilities are not good.

First Citizen Carranza offers the use of the railroads of Mexico to help get the United States troops out of Mexico, which shows the bewhiskered codger isn't as disliking as might seem, although he doesn't offer free transportation, which, under the circumstances he ought to be willing enough to do.

There is both wit and wisdom in the suggestion of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, that if Mexico knew what was good for her she'd reform and become an American winter resort. There's money in that.

Let the newspapers talk all they will about the president's latest peace address. Just that much less foolishness about the high cost of living.

We wonder how many citizens are altogether conscious of the fact that the steel mills employ almost three thousand men and still millions are being spent in additions that will increase both products and the number employed.

FIGHTING OFF THE "GRIP"

THE LACK OF LEADERS

Collier's Weekly rather deplores that at the present day there seems to be a lack of leaders in this country, especially when the matter of the next presidency is taken into consideration. It is hardly like that Hughes will be considered available again, by the Republican party. It goes into the discard along with Alton Parker. Roosevelt, though we have him ever with us and assumably always a candidate, is quite impossible, because he has fallen into rather bad grace with both wings of his party, the stand-patters and the progressives. Hiram Johnson, of dubious political antics, is scarcely to be considered, at least not before he had been in the senate awhile and the country has been able to take his real measure.

The Democratic party is seen to be equally poverty stricken in the matter of leadership, with Wilson eliminated as a further presidential possibility. Bryan seems to stand second to him and alone, but his days for presidential consideration are past.

All of which may be taken as quite pathetic, but not unfortunate. Parties do not make presidential nominees out of their leaders, until they have once been elected. At the time he was nominated Woodrow Wilson was not particularly prominent in the councils of his party. He had no sort of political organization or combination behind him, except as was formed in the stress of the pre-convention canvass. His proven worth and his exact fitness for the times have given him unquestioned supremacy in party leadership. Yet this is not saying there are not other Democrats to be found, who under less trying conditions, which let us hope will be the case in the near future, would make acceptable presidents. Quite likely too, when the time comes, the Republican party will find more than one strong, capable man for consideration. And this one thing can be set down as the truth, no matter how much the success of popular government and the honesty of public men decried, as a rule an American, when elevated to a position, rises equal to it. There is a sort of general impression more are failures than actually are, because, owing to our villainous politics, one-half of us will not admit there is any good in an official and the other half will concede that there is no bad.

What's that, Boston claiming to have converted Billy Sunday? Wait until Sunday hears of it.

If some of these statesmen would discover what's the matter while they are in office, instead of afterwards or before, then might their discoveries be of some value.

A southern man blew himself up with dynamite. Many others blow themselves up, but unfortunately do not use such an effective distiller.

Some people claim they like snow, but we notice they are a whole lot more cheerful since the last one disappeared.

This material comes from Vermont, and one of the cars was traced to a siding in Canada. All the marble is now on the ground at the cemetery, according to Mr. Huffman.

Wilson's Address Before Senate

GERMAN BATTLEERS SUFFER SEVERE DEFEAT, CLAIM

SENATORS TO VOTE ON QUESTION OF UNLIMITED DEBATE ON PROPOSALS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—President Wilson's historic address to the world is before the senate today.

It seemed certain early today consideration would be confined, for the present, to the question of whether on Monday there shall be full and unlimited debate on the proposals made by the president.

Republicans, led by Senators Cummins and Jones, promised a bitter fight to have this done; they will be as bitterly opposed by Senator Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee and the administration's senate leaders. Stone wants his committee to consider the matter before there is open debate on it.

It appears that however this preliminary question is decided, there will be acrimonious debate and discussion of the address.

If the Cummins resolution, permitting two hours debate from each senator on the subject Monday fails, he and several others will "go it alone" at the first opportunity they can get the floor for that purpose.

In the meantime, the real audience the president wanted to address—the people of this country and of all belligerent countries—as well as government heads, have begun to discuss the address.

During the week statesmen in every belligerent nation it is believed will have publicly spoken approval or condemnation of the president's appeal for world-wide extension and application of

HOW THE GERMANS VIEW WILSON'S ADDRESS

Berlin, Jan. 24.—President Wilson's senate speech was telegraphed to the kaiser and Field Marshal von Hindenburg at the front today.

Ambassador Gerard conferred for forty minutes with Foreign Secretary Zimmermann last night and later cabled the state department at Washington a confidential outline of the German foreign office impression of the statement.

Meanwhile the president's sentiments are fully echoed publicly and officially in Germany. They are viewed with interest and favor. Whether Germany can take official cognizance of the declaration is not yet clear.

It is pointed out by men in responsible official positions that the American president's declaration is a step toward the peace for which the people of the world long. Informal discussion by foreign office officials, however, developed the belief that Germany cannot take official cognizance of the address. This belief is based on the following premises:

First, because the allies' reply to President Wilson has never been officially received by Germany.

Second, because it is believed that Germany cannot make further moves toward peace after the insulting reply to her own peace suggestions made by the allies.

Third, because officials desire to await senate debate on the president's address, feeling that a statement from Germany—even one discussing peace terms—would be an interference in American affairs.

Fourth, Germany does not consider the time opportune to state her terms, though being willing to discuss the speech itself.

Favor "Freedom Of The Seas"

Men in responsible positions did not hesitate today to express their satisfaction over the president's argument for "freedom of the seas." From the first Germany has insisted this was the biggest question involved. These same officials pointed out also that Germany showed she favored an independent Poland—another point on which the president laid stress—by her proclamation of November.

Except for a small conservative group among the Socialists, all of President Wilson's ideas found ready support today. It was believed Ambassador Gerard found the foreign office's impression likewise favorable.

But if Germany views the president's speech as a distinct step toward peace, she is not stopping gigantic preparations for war. The evidence grows daily that the nation is straining every ounce of economic and physical energy for the expected final engagements between England and Germany which will decide and end the conflict.

An evidence of this is the successful voluntary enlistment of old and young men and women for "home war service." The same spirit is exhibited in today's press notice that hereafter no unnecessary freight will be moved by the railroads; that shippers must first obtain permission from an official of the war service department.

All private interests are now being submerged to the state's interest—and that is now centered upon winning of the war.

From marine circles one obtains the impression that in the final engagement between England and Germany will be decided and end the conflict.

and Germany the sea forces, in an unexpected manner, will play an important role. In the decisive action which all expect everyone is confident Germany will win.

The position of neutrals may unavoidably become worse in this situation to come. An official who has just visited neutral nations in an effort to obtain their impression, returned here with the conviction that neutrals want the war to end, no matter who wins.

The magnitude of the preparations being made for the "great engagement since the beginning of the war," are evidenced also by unofficial reports from the front, as well as by rumors which spread from lip to lip in Berlin's homes. On all fronts the battles have reached another "tension stage." Both sides are jockeying for position; both desire the other side to move first.

But whatever happens, Chief of Staff Hindenburg is prepared.

Food difficulties or coal shortages will have been forgotten when Europe's millions of armed—and home forces—meet in what is expected to be this year's and this war's decision.

GERMANY DENIES LOSS OF DESTROYER

THE BRITISH VERSION

London, Jan. 24.—Persistent reports from Holland today were that from six to ten German destroyers had been sunk in Monday night's engagement between British and German sea forces. The admiral made no change today in the announcement of the sinking of one German destroyer and destruction of a British craft of the same type.

THE GERMAN VERSION

Berlin, (Via Wireless, Sayville,) Jan. 24.—One British destroyer was sunk in the naval action off the Dutch coast yesterday and one of the German torpedo boats reached a Dutch harbor, a German official statement declared today.

The rest of the German vessels returned with slight losses.

WALL STREET MAD, DOES NOT WANT TO GIVE UP BUSINESS SECRETS, MAY FIGHT TO KEEP 'EM

New York, Jan. 24.—Recommendations for corrective measures toward the New York stock exchange are practically certain to be the outcome of the present "crisis" probe.

A prominent Democratic member of the house committee conducting the investigation admitted today that questions and veiled hints of congressional action, voiced by Attorney Sherman L. Whipple, had the definite purpose of furnishing the committee information on which to make recommendations to congress.

The committee particularly is after short pools who rig the market and "manipulate" bad news by manipulation. Likewise the committee may recommend a change in rules concerning hypochondria of securities.

At present, "one poor little piece of stock"—as Whipple put it—does a lot of service, being loaned by one broker to another and then to another, and so on, each time having its effect on the market. In short, one share of stock offers speculative opportunities beyond its own actual money value, though the loaning possibilities are not entirely unrestricted.

The committee gained a victory in its first clash with the stock exchange, for last night the governors agreed to "request" members to produce records showing business and customers from December 10 to 23, and moreover to say whether they had any advance information from abroad on the president's recent note.

Wall street is mad. It doesn't want to give up these business secrets and there is talk of fight among some of the dealers.

Northern Ohio Sportsmen To Support "Quail Bill" Framed In Portsmouth

Cleveland, O., Jan. 24.—Northern Ohio sportsmen will back the efforts of Senator W. D. Tremper and Representative W. R. Sprague of Portsmouth, who have agreed to introduce a bill in the legislature providing for an open season of eight days for quail shooting and using the receipts from the hunter licenses to establish game preserves.

George P. Freeman, secretary and captain of the Cleveland Gun Club, said today they will back the proposition, as they feel that absolute prohibition of quail shooting has not bettered the situation.

"To avoid being caught, hunters 'pot shot' the quail nowadays, killing them in bunches," he said, "instead of shooting them on the wing."

SOUTH AMERICA DELAYING VERDICT ON WILSON'S SPEECH

Buenos Aires, Jan. 24.—South America generally, as well as Argentine, is delaying its verdict on President Wilson's speech pending fuller understanding of its aims, dispatches here indicate today.

An unexpected unwillingness was manifested to forego the extension of the principle of the Monroe Doctrine suggested in the president's speech, because that extension was taken as implying abandonment of the doctrine.

This was a source of anxiety here today.

As far as the purely peace efforts of the president are concerned, there is an overwhelming majority in favor of Wilson's suggestions.

The newspaper Razon unqualifiedly endorsed the American peace efforts in an editorial today.

"We believe it the duty of all neutrals to support President Wilson's work," the editorial concluded.

MAY CLASS QUAIL AS SONG BIRD

Columbus, O., Jan. 24.—Those who'd rather hear Bob White singing than to shoot them, are invited to be on hand tomorrow evening in the Ohio house chamber. House and senate fish and game committees at that time will hold a hearing to place quail on the "song bird" list.

A Gigantic Scheme In Food Swindling Uncovered

Berlin, Jan. 21.—A gigantic scheme in food swindling was uncovered through arrest of Frau Kupfer and her daughter by police today. Berlin's first citizens, it is now revealed, have been swindled out of millions of marks.

Frau Kupfer came to Leipzig at the start of the war, and borrowed 400 marks ($62.00), with which she opened a small office. She purchased artificial honey, and later re-sold at a great profit. It was but a short time until she had 10,000 marks ($2,300) and this she invested in other products reselling them at extravagant prices.

Her fascinating manners gained her hundreds and thousands of marks from investors, and she finally organized a ten million mark ($2,300,000) concern.

Frau Kupfer bought willingly at extortionate prices. Frau Kupfer began quietly obtaining enormous sums on her promises for future delivery. Then she was "trapped by the police."

The Berlin VOSSISCHE ZEITUNG declared today.

"Berlin's first citizens have been swindled out of millions of marks."

AS TO PUBLIC OPINION

According to our view, the most important matter in regard to President Wilson's peace address to the senate, is first, how will it be regarded by the belligerent governments, and, second, how he received by the people, when it loses its sensational incidents and is discussed and considered as a state paper.

Primarily the German press seems disposed to give it approval and so far there is no apparent tendency to regard it as in anywise an affront to Germany or her position. On the other hand, the British press is cautious and non-committal in its comments. It is as though the exact purport of the deliverance being not clearly understood prudently dictated there should be no haste in expressing favor or disfavor.

At home there is a decisive preponderance of sentiment in support of the act and sentiments of the president, if we may take the newspapers as reflecting the popular view. It is true that such papers as the New York Sun and Tribune are harsh in their criticisms, but of them nothing that Wilson could do, except to resign, would possibly meet with their approval. This is equally the case with the rabid pro-German papers, but the independent metropolitan press and many of the more liberal Republican and German journals are altogether cordial in praise and support. They characterize the address as courageous, opportune and able and express the conviction that it can have but one result, the promotion of an earlier peace and on a basis that will insure against such devastating wars for many years to come. A consummation most devoutly to be prayed for.

SHE NEEDS EVERY FOOT

Taking forethought in a most vital matter Mr. George Matthews, with the energy and enthusiasm characteristic of him, is agitating that future extensions of the flood wall shall follow the general course of the river. To do this would take in a large section of lowlands that lie to the southeast. It has been quite generally assumed that such a plan would not be feasible because of the enormous cost that would be entailed in the construction of a wall of the height required. Surveys and drawings in the city engineer's office are said not to justify this conclusion. Accepting as unquestioned that eventually a flood wall is to surround the entire city, it appears that on any course its lines may be laid, other than those inclusive of the lowlands, it would be not as much as five feet lower. This would not seem to make protection of the lowlands, either impossible or impracticable. The higher wall would hold, of that there can be no doubt, and it seems of supreme importance that the lowlands should be raised to the most valuable asset the city can have, when its future growth is considered. Thinking men are beginning to realize that the most serious menace the town has to development is the scarcity of available industrial sites. Protected from high waters no more desirable locations could be desired than would be then furnished by the lowlands. Situated on the river bank and adjacent to all railroads entering the city their shipping facilities would be unrivaled. It should not be taken for granted they can not be utilized for important purposes, but to the contrary they should be held as a most potential asset in the future of Portsmouth and every effort strained to make them such.

William Jennings Bryan spoke twice in Cincinnati, and everybody that could hear him, the police having to close the doors of the buildings to keep off over-crowding. Additional interest was given to his visit by the announcement that Theodore Roosevelt had been invited to follow right on his heels.

The war department has relented and rescinded its orders that the brave warriors on the governors' staffs may not wear federal officers' uniforms, that is reproduction of them, of course. Now let the gay and gallant colonels be gay and gallant once more, and the envy of every plain citizen.

Yes, sir, there may too much of a good thing. At least the federal reserve board expresses fear that this country is accumulating too much gold. Why not put a protective tariff on it.

It is said of a distinguished orator that his terminal facilities are not good.

First Citizen Curranza offers the use of the railroads of Mexico to help get the United States troops out of Mexico, which shows the bewhiskered dodger isn't as dissembling as might seem, although he doesn't offer free transportation, which, under the circumstances he ought to be willing enough to do.

There is both wit and wisdom in the suggestion of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, that if Mexico knew what was good for her she'd reform and become an American winter resort. There's money in that.

Let the newspapers talk all they will about the president's latest peace address. Just that much less foolishness about the high cost of living.

We wonder how many citizens are altogether unconscious of the fact that the steel mills employ almost three thousand men and still millions are being spent in additions that will increase both products and the number employed.

FIGHTING OFF THE "GRIP"

THE LACK OF LEADERS

Collier's Weekly rather deplores that at the present day there seems to be a lack of leaders in this country, especially when the matter of the next presidency is taken into consideration. It is hardly like that Hughes will be considered available again by the Republican party. He goes into the discard along with Alton Parker. Roosevelt, though we have him ever with us and assumably always a candidate, is quite impossible, because he has fallen into rather bad grace with both wings of his party, the stand-paters and the progressives. Hiram Johnson, of dubious political antics, is scarcely to be considered, at least not before he had been in the senate awhile and the country has been able to take his real measure.

The Democratic party is seen to be equally poverty stricken in the matter of leadership, with Wilson eliminated as a further presidential possibility. Bryan seems to stand second to him and alone, but his days for presidential consideration are past. All of which may be taken as quite pathetic, but not unfortunate. Parties do not make presidential nominees out of their leaders, until they have once been elected. At the time he was nominated Woodrow Wilson was not particularly prominent in the councils of his party. He had no sort of political organization or combination behind him, except as was formed in the stress of the pre-convention canvass. His proven worth and his exact fitness for the times have given him unquestioned supremacy in party leadership. Yet this is not saying there are not other Democrats to be found, who under less trying conditions, which let us hope will be the case in the near future, would make acceptable presidents. Quite likely too, when the time comes, the Republican party will find more than one strong, capable man for consideration. And this one thing can be set down as the truth, no matter how much the success of popular government and the honesty of public men desired, as a rule an American, when elevated to a position, rises equal to it. There is a sort of general impression more are failures than actually are, because, owing to our villainous politics, one-half of us will not admit there is any good in an official and the other half will concede that there is no bad.

What's that, Boston claiming to have converted Billy Sunday? Wait until Sunday hears of it.

If some of these statesmen would discover what's the matter while they are in office, instead of afterwards or before, then might their discoveries be of some value.

A southern man blew himself up with dynamite. Many others blow themselves up, but unfortunately do not use such an effective distiller.

Some people claim they like snow, but we notice they are a whole lot more cheerful since the last one disappeared.

"Mental Torture" Caused Him Ohio Reaches 43 Foot Stage; To Kill Women, Says Terry Is Still Rising Very Slowly

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 24.—Harvey E. Terry, who on Monday admitted he had killed his wife, her mother and his wife's cousin, on yesterday afternoon in his cell at the county jail, made a detailed confession. Terry's statement considerably amplifies a confession he had made earlier in the day to the police, and throws the spotlight on many phases of his extraordinary case.

The mental tortures of an unhappy marital career impelled him to slay Mrs. Terry and her mother, whom he believed partially responsible for his matrimonial difficulties, but the slaying of Mrs. Sparlock was an accident, Terry said.

Other significant parts of his statement were that he had intended to stage a double tragedy at the court house instead of the Black home, and that he doesn't want his 18-year-old actress daughter ever to know he is a murderer.

Terry recounted his story from the day pretty Lillian G. Black became his bride on February 14, 1916.

This is what he said:

"We were married the fourteenth of last February and separated the latter part of March. After about three weeks we went back together. She had sued me for a divorce and I filed a cross-petition, but she begged me to come back and live with her. I had kept her off three weeks before I took her back. Then, I think it was about July 28, she left home again. I came home from work and found she had packed her trunk and gone. I stayed at home a few days and then moved to a room right across from the city hall. I had only been living there a week when I came home and found her in my room. I said to her 'I've nothing to talk to you about, get out of my room.' She went away.

"Then she would frequently call me up over the telephone, begging me to take her back. I told her 'you've broke up my home twice and I think that's enough to do to my man.' I told her I absolutely would not see her. Then came the notice of her being granted alimony by the judge. I didn't understand the second divorce notice and was not in court when the judge gave her alimony. I filed a second cross-petition, and asked for a rehearing but the judge wouldn't take off the alimony. He gave her four dollars a week and attorney fees of $20.

"Then she got to running about the streets and bragging that I had to support her but she didn't have to live with me. She never worked a lick and that showed she was getting her living some other way. I wouldn't be minded so much if she had only gone to work. I knew her aged father was unable to support her. People would come to me and tell me about seeing her on the street talking to men and walking with men. I had a good position, I didn't want to give up and be run out of town by that woman. I paid the alimony every week.

"Last Saturday my lawyer advised me to put off the divorce trial because there was not sufficient evidence.

"I had been worked up to a pitch—my blood was boiling—I had been worrying for months and drinking more liquor than I had ever drunk before in my life. I had been worried to death all the time since the separation. People came and said she wasn't living right and that would keep me down there. It looked like I had to do something. It seemed like something just kept pulling me down there.

"Her mother caused the separation. I held more against her than I did my wife. I don't know how many shots I fired. I gave my wife a good home and she wanted for nothing. I had been worrying for two or three months and I felt like I couldn't stand the trouble any longer. I intended to get it right at the court house. If it had happened there, Mrs. Sparlock would not be dead. God knows I didn't aim to kill her. I didn't know what I was doing.

Terry then graphically described the scenes of the last day leading to those in the death chamber of the Black home.

"I left the court room about eleven o'clock in the morning after the case had been put off. I went to my room and drank a half a pint of whisky. I laid down and must have slept until about three o'clock in the afternoon. I got up and drank the rest of the liquor—all except about one drink. I walked around all that afternoon, thinking and thinking. I didn't even eat any supper. I got on a Sixth and Eighth and jumped up. Well, what do you know? I got off at Sixth street, not at about this," she said and started to run. I shot her twice. Her mother was screaming and I turned in the side door. Lillie saw me and the gun on her. I did not aim to shoot Mrs. Sparlock. She jumped around behind Lillie's mother and must have got shot that way.

Here Terry broke down and wept.

Noted Man At Trinity Thursday Evening

Local pastors and Sunday school superintendents seem wide awake to the opportunity which is afforded them by the coming of Rev. Joseph A. Bennett on Thursday night to Trinity church. They are lining up their Sunday school teachers, as well as all the members of adult bible classes, both men and women for this big event. They realize that this "live wire" in Sunday School work has a message their members should hear, and they are seeing to it that they all attend wherever possible.

The meeting Thursday night will start at 7:30 o'clock, so every working man in Portsmouth will have an opportunity of attending. The song service will be a big feature of the evening with two special numbers. Both will be a real treat. Rev. Bennett will begin his address promptly at 7:50; his subject being: "A Citizen of the Christ Kingdom." Bennett is no theorist, for he has had no time to theorize, he has been too busy "doing things" up at Sistriville for that. He is going to tell all about the great work which he and his big class of men have been able to accomplish there. It will be interesting—what's more, instructive. The public cordially invited.

Sea Rover's "Prison Ship" Leaves Port

Buenos Aires, Jan. 24.—The German raider's "prison ship," the Japanese steamer Harbin (Maru), left Pernambuco today.

With a stage of 43 feet at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning, the Ohio river continued to rise steadily, and it is now believed that the river will touch the 45 foot mark before the crest of the rise has passed.

From 4 p.m. Tuesday until 7 a.m. Wednesday, the river rose exactly 2 1/2 feet, according to Local River Observer Fred B. Winter. The gauge at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon showed a stage of 40.6, and at 7 o'clock this morning the river registered 43.

The river has risen sufficiently to inundate the river and "Y" road on the West Side, but it will have to reach 48 feet before the towpath is submerged and traffic is cut off from the West Side.

The river has been rising steadily since Sunday, but the rate of rise is gradually being reduced and it looks doubtful if the Ohio will go much beyond the 45-foot mark here.

PROMPT SQUELCHING OF SUFFRAGE RESOLUTION IN EXPECTED IN THE SENATE

Columbus, O., Jan. 24.—Prompt squelching of Senator Holden's resolution to submit a woman suffrage amendment to the Ohio constitution to a state-wide vote next November was in prospect today.

Holden's resolution, introduced late yesterday in the senate, was referred to the committee on privileges and elections, where the friends of the presidential suffrage bill now pending plan to put the resolution to sleep.

Holden, in a statement explaining his resolution, said the effort to get presidential suffrage for Ohio women is an attack on the I. and R. He said the Democratic party is bound to preserve the I. and R., but is not bound by any platform pledge to grant women suffrage.

He said a "propaganda" of paid lobbyists is working for the presidential suffrage bill. He hinted that "insidious interests" are behind the presidential suffrage movement.

Replying to Holden, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, president of the Ohio Woman Suffrage Association, said: "The only persons working for the presidential suffrage bill introduced by Representative Reynolds, of Cleveland, are the women who believe it should become part of Ohio's law. We are not paid propagandists. We have no ulterior motives, hence we fear no investigation. But all this talk about insidious interests and an attack on the I. and R. are simply efforts to cloud the simple issues and to delay action. The fact remains that the platforms of both parties commit the legislators to the support of the presidential suffrage bill."

If a bill introduced by Senator Horn, Wayne county, passes, the high cost of marrying will go up. It would require every man to obtain a physician's certificate of good health before getting a marriage license, and to pay the physician's fee for issuing this certificate.

Senator Mooney, Cuyahoga county, introduced a bill for absent voting. He said the Democratic party is bound to preserve the I. and R., but is not bound by any platform pledge to grant women suffrage.

Administration leaders in both houses today were trying to speed up work of committees, to shorten the session, in accordance with Governor Cox's recommendation, made in his message.

Representative Cheymann, Montgomery county, announced a final hearing on the initiated bill to bar liability insurance companies from the workmen's compensation fund will be held Monday afternoon and the bill reported out at once for passage.

School Credit Plan Success

School credit for home work was so successful in District No. 1 of this county last year that the county superintendents have agreed to give the opportunity to all of the teachers of the county during this year.

In rural schools any pupil in the school can do the home work. In village schools like Sistriville, Wheelersburg, South Webster, Otway and Rarden, only the 5th and 6th grades will try it. The purpose of the school credit for home work is to inculcate habits of industry and to bring about better co-operation between the home and school. A girl can get little real instruction in setting the table, preparing a meal or making a bed in the average rural school.

A boy can get little instruction in the care of stock or farm work in the rural school. To give the child this practical training the best plan found is to give the children this necessary training at home. If a boy builds a fire 7 times a week, he would get 7 credits. If a boy or girl milks a cow twice a day for 7 days, he or she would receive 14 credits. The credits will count in the grades. Each pupil winning 300 or more credits within a month will be given a half holiday at the end of the month.
